PROJECT

"Privacy Conserving and Truthful Detection of Packet Dropping Attacks in Wireless Ad Hoc Networks Using Bloom Filter": A model for detecting attacks and preserving the messages, the system present an efficient and secure approach for transmitting information from one node to another node using Bloom filters that are encoded as data travels through intermediate nodes, and are decoded and verified at the base station. This technique is also able to defend against malicious attacks such as packet dropping and allows one to detect the responsible node for packet drops. As such it makes possible to modify the transmission route to avoid nodes that could be compromised or malfunctioning. In addition, we expand the system to IP tracing; it is designed to create a trustworthy environment for nodes where only trusted data is processed.

ACHIEVEMENTS & CERTIFICATION

- B.E. Project Sponsored by VST InfoTech
- Participated in national level competition of B.E. Project presentation "Ashwamedh-2017"
- Certification in Java Specialist from SEED InfoTech
- Certification of Paper Publishing in International Journal of Advance Engineering and Research Development (IJAERD)
- Certification in TOSCA Automation Specialist Level 1 by TRICENTIS
